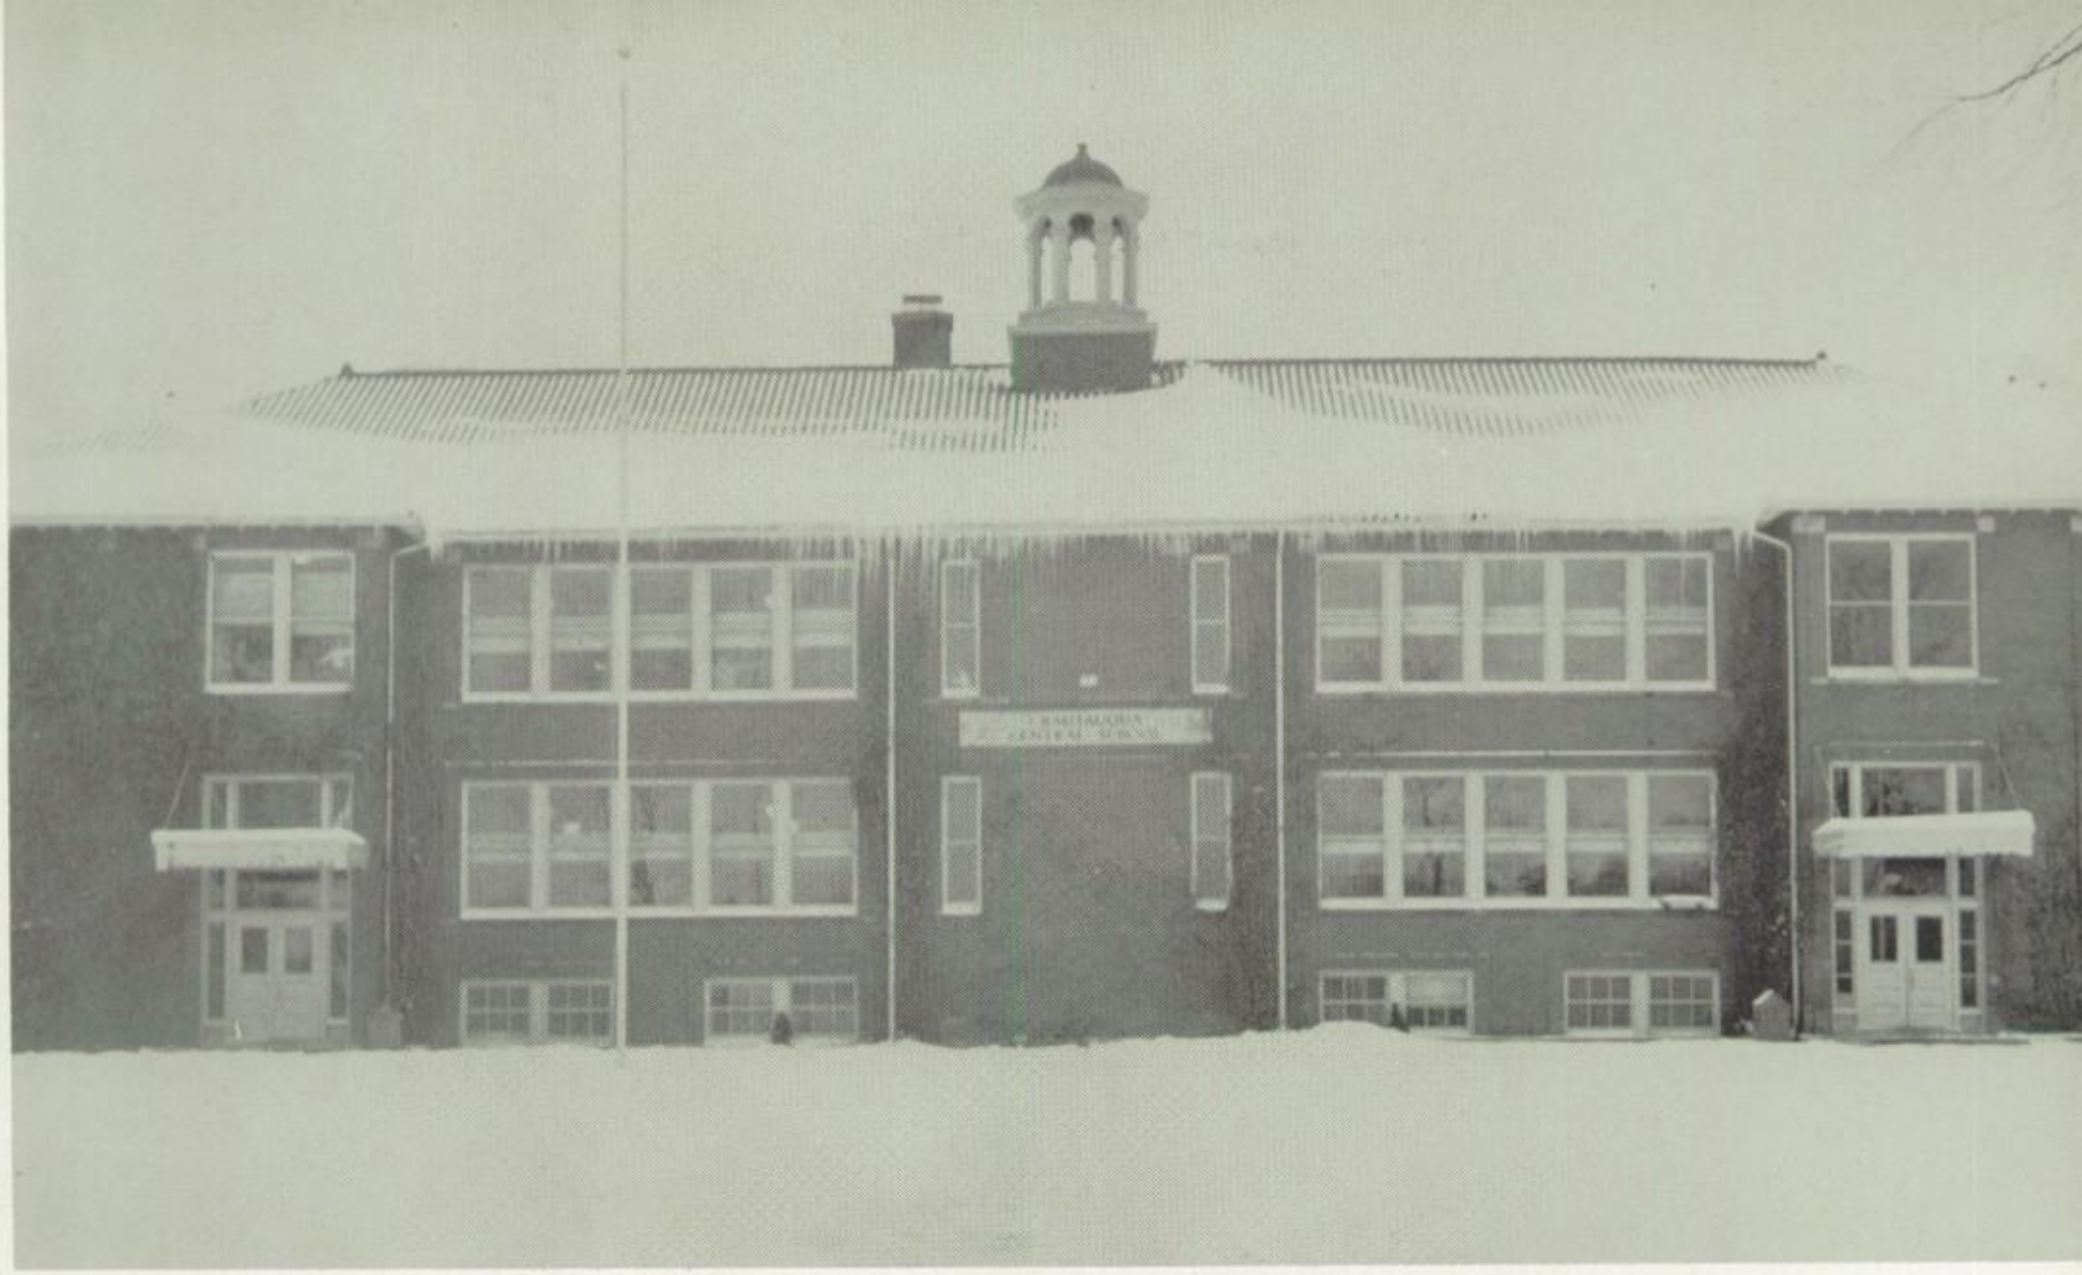
DEDICATION

We, the class of 1955, dedicate this yearbook to Miss Enid White, who has been our class advisor for three years. Not only has Miss White made our class trip possible through her advice and her generosity of time and labor, but she has helped us to learn to work together for the benefit of the group, which will be of great value in our future lives. Advisors receive no award for their faithful service, so we offer this dedication to Miss White as an expression of our deep-felt gratitude.



CHAUTAUQUA CENTRAL SCHOOL

Where the skies are clear and blue,
Chautauqua High, we come to you.
Name that's known afar and near,
In our hearts we hold you dear,
Our love is true.

Where the gate stands open wide,
Teacher, student, side by side,
Keep our standards ever high.
Our true love will never die,
Whate'er betide.

Hail, oh hail, Chautauqua,
Alma Mater, dear.
We will always do our best,
Keep our school above the rest,
Chautauqua High.

The 1954-1955 school year marked the last year in Miss Clara Gibbs' thirty-five year teaching career. Her resignation and retirement after thirty years of teaching at Chautauqua will leave a noticeable gap in the ranks of our faculty.

Miss Gibbs comes originally from Fredonia. She graduated from the State Teachers College there and from Columbia University. She has also taken six summers' instruction at the University of Buffalo. Her first teaching position was at Lewiston, New York. From there she came to Chautauqua.

Miss Gibbs taught both art and music during her first eleven years here. She formed our first orchestra and girls' chorus as well as a boys' double quartet and a jazz band. Miss Gibbs' art students have provided the appropriate scenery for all our operettas and music programs. These students have painted the moving Christmas scenes on the windows of the school during many Christmas Seasons. The innumerable drawings in the Chronicle and in our yearbooks were done by students of Miss Gibbs.

Miss Gibbs has been very active outside our school. She is a member of the WCTU, the DAR, the Historical Society, the New York State Art Teachers' Association, and the Eastern Arts Association. She was the choir director of the community church for twenty-five years and is now an active member of the church board. She was honored in being made a life member at the Chautauqua P. T. A.

We are sorry to lose Miss Gibbs, who has done so much for Chautauqua's art and music departments.

We, the Class of 1955, take this opportunity to thank the many, many people who have made our high school years so enjoyable: First, our teachers, especially Miss Cowles, who assisted us as our advisor in our most difficult year, our senior year, and Mr. Quinette, without whose advice and knowledge this yearbook could never have been printed. Secondly, our parents, who generously contributed their time and money to our undertakings. Thirdly, the people of this community, who patronized our business ventures and helped pay for this yearbook.

Without this assistance, our class parties, our class trip to New York City, and "The Indian" would have been impossible.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

The Class of 1955 came to school the first time in the fall of 1943. Of the twenty-five children entering Miss Skinner's first grade that September, seven have remained with the class all the way through school. They are Jane Briggs, Phyllis Scott, Suzanne Kranking, Juanita Sherman, Bill Lynch, Doug Hunter, and Claudine Wells. Soon after the start of their first school term, Mary Lou Burns and Nancy Bates joined them from Chautauqua's first kindergarten. Joyce Badgley came to Chautauqua in December of that year.

The Class went into Mrs. Wheeler's second grade and then on to the third grade under Miss Akin. Tom Christofferson and Roger Martz joined the group that year. In the fourth grade under Mrs. Hall, Alan Woodard and Barbara Cross became two new classmates. The class gained Jackie Johnson, Phyllis Hubbell and Ralph Watt in Mrs. Johnson's fifth grade, but Barbara Cross left for Ashville at the end of that year. Eleanor Huffman and Wayne Eidens entered the class in the sixth grade when Miss Miller was their teacher. Shirley Butts entered for a short time during the latter part of that year, but she moved to Fredonia before the class went on to the seventh grade. Mr. Hussey guided them through the rigors of New York State history. Dave Whittington and Tom Woollett came to Chautauqua to join the class that year. Mrs. Hunt was the teacher who helped the class through regents examinations in their eighth year when Sanford Humble, Marcia Platt, Jackie Engwall, and Chuck Roess helped enlarge the group. Shirley Butts was also back with them that year, but she returned to Fredonia the next summer.

The Class of 1955 was one of the larger classes when it descended on the high school in September, 1951. There they met their new classmates from Ashville, six of whom had started in kindergarten together. These six, Margaret Murray, Elaine Burnham, Ronnie Graham, Doug Card, Kenny Elder, and Tom Francis, were joined by Donna Fornell in the first grade. Barbara Cross entered the Ashville class from Chautauqua in the sixth grade and spent her last three years of grammar school there. Jeanne Hanson came to Ashville in the seventh grade. These two groups started high school together in the new wing which had just been built. In the middle of their freshman year, Shirley Butts came back to stay. Miss Smith was their advisor that year during which they sponsored two bake sales, a fish dinner, and a box social. They also sold all-occasion cards with good results. Tom Woollett left the class after the ninth grade, but John Anderson kept the number the same by joining the class in the beginning of their sophomore year. Miss White and Miss Cowles were their advisors for both their sophomore and junior years. During these two years the class made money on five bake sales, two cafeteria suppers, one Swiss steak dinner, the Amateur Show, three one-act plays, and a dance, "Frost Frolic". They also sold Christmas cards both years and sold Chautauqua bracelets, "School Daze" booklets, refreshments at baseball games, group pictures. Grape picking in their junior year proved very profitable. The class picked out their class rings in their sophomore year. The Junior-Senior Prom held at the Country Club was a gala occasion for all.

Tom Woollett rejoined them, and Geneive Pugh became a new classmate in 1954. The class was guided by Miss White and Miss Cowles that year. With their able assistance the class made a great success of the Betty Dixon Candy sales, two catered dinners, the concession for refreshments at basketball games, the Amateur Show, and the senior class play, "M'liss". With the money they had earned throughout their high school years, the class took a six-day trip to New York City with Mr. and Mrs. Swart as chaperones.

This is the history of the Class of 1955, with thirty-six members, the largest class ever to graduate from Chautauqua Central School.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

New York Times October 23, 1965

M'LISS SMASH HIT ON BROADWAY

Last night at the Majestic Theater here in New York, a great show opened. "M'Liss", a western play, was declared the greatest show of the year. The producer, Mr. John Anderson, decided it would be different to present the Chautauqua Class of 1955 in the cast. This class had presented "M'Liss" in their senior year.

The cast assembled on stage at 7:55. Miss Juanita Sherman heads the cast as M'Liss. Miss Sherman is head nurse at Gowanda State Hospital. Mr. Gray was played by Prof. Thomas Christofferson who is the professor of chemistry at Alfred University. An unusual note: Prof. Christofferson has to wear a wig for the play because of the use of the wrong formula in an experiment. The villian, Carter Langdon, was played by Mr. Wayne Eidens who is the beautician at the Mayville Morgue. Clara Hunting, alias Mrs. G. Smith, was played by Miss Marcia Platt who is the driver training instructor at Chautauqua School. Miss Starlight was played by Mrs. Joyce Badgley Warner. Mr. Warner and the children were in the audience. Mr. G. Smith was played by Mr. Roger Martz. He is the gag writer for TV comedian Ken Elder who helped with the scenery this evening. Mrs. Moffets was played by Miss Mary Lou Burns, the ballet teacher for the New York City Ballet Co. Clytie Moffets was played by Miss Jeanne Hanson, a prominent New York socialite. Mr. Thomas Francis, who runs a fashionable home for elderly ladies, played Yuba Bill. The judge was played by Ronald Graham, an African big game hunter.

Refreshments were served between acts. Here again we have the 1955 seniors. Miss Johnson and Miss Engwall poured punch. These two ladies write the lovelorn column for the New York Times. Miss Huffman and Miss Fornell served sandwiches. Miss Huffman is secretary to Senator McCarthy. Miss Fornell is the English teacher at Chautauqua. Miss Bates and Miss Kranking served cookies. Miss Bates is under the direction of Prof. Christofferson at Alfred. Lucky for Miss Bates she was out of the room at the time of Prof. Christofferson's experiment. Miss Kranking is the proud owner of the E & G, a fashionable up-state restaurant. In the make-up department were Miss Scott who gives examinations for drivers' licenses and Miss Hubbell, a food tester for Howard Johnson Restaurants. Also Miss Pugh, Miss Burnham, and Miss Butts who make cherry pies for Miss Kranking's restaurant. Mr. Sanford Humble, the official salesman for Betty Dixon Candy, was stage manager. Tending curtain was Mr. Douglas Hunter who is on the "before and after" advertisement for height pills. Mr. Thomas Woollett, a mechanic at Joe's Auto Fix-it Shop, and Mr. Douglas Card, who is currently seen as Macbeth in the presentation of Shakespeare's MACBETH on Broadway, were stagehands. Miss Murray, Mrs. Jane Briggs Hoeft, and Mrs. Claudine Wells Holmes were ushers. Mr. David Whittington, warden at Sing Sing Prison, was in charge of handling tickets. Mr. Alan Woodard, writer for SPORTS AFIELD MAGAZINE, took tickets at the door. On the program committee were Mr. Charles "Short" Roess, president of the Chautauqua Bird and Tree Club, Mr. William Lynch who is prominently seen testing Harley Davidson motorcycles, and Mr. Ralph Watt who has distinguished himself in the field of unlocking knees of cadets at Annapolis.

Last, but not least, we see the eminent Miss Enid White directing the orchestra in the pit. She is the conductor of the Chautauqua Philharmonic Orchestra.

SENIOR CLASS WILL

We, the senior class of Chautauqua Central School, Chautauqua, New York, being of sound mind, do declare this to be our last will and testament and do direct the Class of 1956 to act as executors of this will and to pay all our just debts and funeral expenses.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

The Seniors presented a three-act western comedy, "M'liss," on October 22 and 23, 1954. Our director, Miss White, and the cast did a splendid job and made the play a success. Not only did the class make a substantial profit from this play, but they enjoyed presenting it as well.

PTA FAIR

ART CLASSWORK

The interesting scene shown below is the result of the work of Miss Gibbs and her high school art classes. The paper mache Santa Claus and snowmen adorned the gym at the time of the annual Christmas Music Concert.
